FEDERAL AID ROADS IN POOR CONDITION

Federal aid projects in the southern part of the state are in bad shape, according to C. W. Pierce, highway bridge engineer of the U. S. bureau of roads, who has returned from a three weeks' inspection tour of 19 federal aid projects in that vicinity.

The roads constructed by federal aid and supposed to be maintained by the state are:

Heber-Hallstone, Modena-St. George, Price-Emery and Ephraim-Orangeville.

These sections are in poor condition, according to Engineer Pierce, as no maintenance work has been done upon them. Constant and heavy motor travel has made the roads rough and dusty.

Federal aid projects now under construction, include the Heber-Fruitland, Sevier-Cove Fort, Castlegate-Duchesne, Duchesne-Vernal, Cedar-Long Valley, and the Price-Castlegate. The latter road is thirteen miles in length and is to be of concrete. Nine miles of the road has been completed. The inspection trip included all of the roads and bridges of the federal-aid and forest-road projects.

Former Ogdenite To Take Movies On Lake Island

Antelope Island is to be used to film one of the biggest features in Emerson Hough's story, "The Covered Wagon," by the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, according to an announcement made public yesterday. The buffalo hunt will be the scene taken.

Otto Meek of Ogden, who owns a large ranch at Baker, Nev., has been employed by the picture corporation to furnish the "props" for the huge picture. That Mr. Meek has undertaken a man-size job will be admitted when it is known that he must furnish, within the next few weeks, 1000 white men and women, 600 Indians, 150 yoke of cattle, 300 covered wagons and 900 horses and mules, including 300 saddle horses. In addition to these the Lasky people will bring 100 actors and actresses from Los Angeles to play the principal parts in the great spectacle. It is announced that the cast will be of the all-star variety, but as yet the personnel has not been made public.

Utahans and residents of Ogden in particular will be pleased with the announcement that the big spectacle is to be directed by James Cruze, a native of Ogden, who has made an enviable reputation as a director of moving pictures within the past few years. Mr. Cruze, whose real name is Bozen, was born in Ogden 38 years ago and received the greater part of his education there.
